Governance

We have a solid governance structure. This ensures agility, dominion and transparency in decision making, in addition to reducing operational risks and noise between areas and processes. Our Firm is managed by an executive committee formed by three senior partners. It is supported by a managing director, who is responsible for administrative concerns.

We are one of the few firms with an independent Compliance and Internal Legal team, which assists the Firm in governance issues related to our internal structures and clients. This team is responsible for risk management as well as for ensuring business ethics – reinforcing our commitment to integrity and transparency in everything we do.

Corporate Social Responsibility

Trench Rossi Watanabe is considered one of the most prestigious law firms in Brazil, in addition to being recognized inside and outside the legal market for its strong commitment to social change. We are committed to corporate social responsibility and support causes that are important to us, such as the promotion of social mobility, but also the responsible impact on our entire network.

Our Social Responsibility Committee was established more than 10 years ago, and through it we develop pro bono work and actions aimed at diversity, equality, inclusion, social mobility, volunteering and sustainability, on top of our support for socio-cultural projects.

We work with non-governmental organizations and clients to maximize the impact and reach of our actions. We believe that participation in this movement is key to building a better future.

Sustainability

Through our Environmental Responsibility Committee, we implement sustainable practices in our day-to-day operations and monitor and mitigate the impacts of our activities. We continually work to minimize the impact of our daily activities and protect the planet's resources. In addition to regularly promoting tree planting and internal campaigns to raise awareness among our clients, we have implemented several initiatives, such as replacing our disposable cups and bottles with glass bottles and cups, introducing selective collection in our four offices, and reducing paper consumption. Our offices in São Paulo and Rio de Janeiro have been completely renovated to high sustainability standards by, for example, using natural light, smart lighting and climate control. In addition, the São Paulo office is LEED certified.

Pro bono advocacy is a constant practice for us. Through it, we provide legal services, free of charge, for nonprofit institutions and for useful services that cannot afford the costs of consulting. We are signatories to the Pro Bono Declaration of the Americas, which reflects our commitment to helping foster, through the provision of legal services projects, the development of a commitment to a social function. Our attorneys support pro bono work on a wide range of issues.

We were recognized, for three consecutive years, by Pro bono: Leading Lights — from Latin Lawyer, one of the main legal publications in Latin America — due to the solidity of our actions, the organization of our Pro Bono Committee and the impact generated on society.

Our Diversity, Equity and Inclusion program

Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

When we talk about diversity, equity and inclusion (DE&I), we are always on the move!

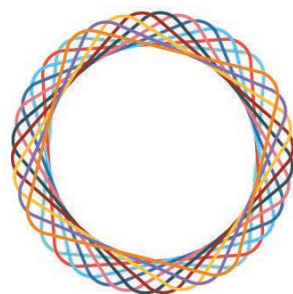

Created more than 10 years ago, our DE&I Committee is recognized inside and outside the legal world for their work committed to social transformation and their initiatives that impact society, expanding opportunities and promoting social mobility.

Since 2016, we have worked with five affinity groups that make up Move, our DE&I program, focused on the themes of gender equity, LGBTQIA+, people with disabilities, ethnic-racial equality and religions. All groups are formed by our in-house team.

Move considers the intersectionality of topics linked to DE&I, raising the level of debates related to plurality and even more inclusive agendas.

In addition to dealing with these initiatives internally, we believe that we can make a difference in our environment. Therefore, we maintain partnerships with bodies and entities, partners and customers through Move Unidos, our relationship program focused on diversity, equity and inclusion.
